

From Pastor Paul Binion

Beloved, this is the Sunday before Thanksgiving, a national day of recognition. We do not need a day for anyone to tell us to be thankful. We all have our moments of being thankful, especially when showered with gifts and attention. But there is an attitude that GOD wants from us, and that is an attitude of gratitude.

This attitude doesn't have its 'moments,' but it is a lifestyle for us. Call it 'half-glass-full' or any other saying, but in understanding who we are and the person of GOD, this attitude should mark our lives. Now in my opinion, it is evidenced by we do and how we live regarding the 'little things.'

When I say little things, I mean smiling, displaying good manners, hugging often, telling your loved ones 'I love you,' writing notes of thanks, picking up after yourself, being complimentary, and even cleaning that house you are tired of and being thankful that you have a house to clean. You have heard preachers say, 'Feet may hurt, but be glad for feet!' Things do not have to be so wonderful in every arena of your life, but recognize what is good, and remember that HE is always looking out for you.

It takes no unction to be negative; it takes a little more to be positive and always strive to be. We are not in denial of our reality, but we live with this attitude: 'I am content where I am and trusting GOD that it will get better.'

There is no ministry activity at WSCOG this week. Enjoy your week, love your family and loved ones, be careful as you travel, and I will see you next Sunday. Dress comfortably; we are having a 'Prayer Meeting, Spiritual Warfare, and Deliverance Service' beginning at 9:00 a.m. next week. Remember, it is not a day or a week but a lifestyle and attitude of being thankful that should describe you and me.

Love and Appreciate You,

Quotation:

Part of spiritual maturity is realizing that much is to be learned from others. A sign of immaturity is thinking you know enough.

Memory Verse of the Week:

Give thanks in all circumstances, for this is God's will for you in Christ Jesus.
(1 Thessalonians 5:18)

Deacon & Deaconess on Call:

James Wallace and Shelia Dickson-Riley
